

The Arrow of Time

Harry Lee Poe

The arrow of time is a one-way street,
a moving train,
a passing breeze,
a dream after waking
that is never dreamed again.

The arrow of time flies
a steady course,
a certain flight,
a perfect arc,
an airborne token set in motion that never will return.

Jackson, TN
February 19, 2006